- Pigs should have access to clean, fresh water at all times.
- Work closely with your veterinarian for a proper vaccination and herd health program.
- The use of Liquid Boost at weaning time will help baby pigs deal with the stress associated with weaning. Pigs will stay hydrated and maintain a healthier digestive tract and in turn hit the feeder harder and faster. Ideal to use with water medicators. Contact us for more information.

tips for starting show pigs

- It's best not to mix show pigs. Mixing pigs increases the chance of fighting that can result in set back or serious injury to your swine project.
- Make sure show pigs have a constant supply of clean, fresh water at all times. Hand watering is not recommended at this time.
- It is important to have a deworming schedule throughout your show season. The use of a calendar and planned worming dates is a good way to remember this crucial management point.
- The growing stage is not the time to start holding weight gain on your show pig. Show pigs at this age are putting on proper muscle tissue as well as developing correct skeletal make up. It is important to maintain their energy demands during this phase of their life.

- When clipping pigs for show be sure to follow any rules on hair length your show might have. For best results we recommend not clipping bodies tighter than 7/16". It's ok to go tighter on head and neck area.
